Thapar Library, also known as Nava Nalanda Central Library, is an iconic structure located in the heart of the Thapar Institute campus in Patiala, Punjab, India. It is a five-story building with 7182 square meters of library space and a 2044 square meter garden. The library is designed with a combination of marble stone, red stone, and wooden architecture, with plenty of natural light. It offers a serene study environment with group discussion rooms, an 80-seat seminar hall, and amenities such as RFID-based security systems, self-check-in, and self-return systems.

In recent years, the library has prioritized digital collections, acquiring more than 2 lakh e-books and transitioning to a digital/online mode. It provides access to a range of resources, such as previous exam questions and the MyHerupa website, to support students in their learning and research. The friendly and approachable library staff are available to answer queries, arrange inter-library loans, and receive suggestions for new acquisitions.

With its modern infrastructure, holistic development environment, and focus on digital resources, Thapar Library aims to provide excellent study environments and facilities to support the learning and research of students at Thapar University.
